Protecting & Preserving Your Content

RSuite® Redaction provides the capability for users to move away from manual redaction and allows electronic data and metadata to be redacted automatically. Users can create pre-defined rules and/or templates that govern redaction.

RSuite Redaction enhances releasability rules compliance and also reduces the time required to redact content and finished products. Organizations that use our software have seen a 95% reduction in their redaction times and fewer errors.

Organizations can purchase RSuite Redaction individually or as an add-on to our component content management system (CCMS), RSuite® Enterprise.

RSuite Redaction uses a highly configurable Web based User Interface to capture disclosure guidance.

SOFTWARE FEATURES

- » Integrate with other Contiem component content management software and services.
- » Automatically redact multi-media and final work products based on corporate and organizational defined guidance.
- » Capture disclosure guidance as templates and apply them to multi-media and final work products to ensure compliance before distributing to third parties.
- » Integrate with third party multi-media viewers to inspect the source and redacted artifacts.
- » Orchestrate and configure the production generation process so that compliant redacted multi-media and final products are created automatically.
- » Integrates with security architectures to provide single sign-on capabilities.
- » Utilize an Administrator application component to change workflows, processes and user interfaces to sustain the application without vendor support.

Organizations that have moved away from their manual redaction processes and utilize RSuite Redaction's automated workflows have seen a reduction in their redaction time by up to 95%.
